5TH ANNUAL WASTE MANAGEMENT CONFERENCE

WASTE TO RESOURCE MANAGEMENT – MAKING THE TRANSITION

This annual Scottish Waste Management Conference brings together all sectors of the waste and waste industry

Eventful Scotland, the partnership facilitated by the Chartered Institution of Wastes Management (CIWM), Scottish Environmental Services Association (SESA), Scottish Environment Protection Agency (SEPA), Caledonian Environment Centre (CEC) and Keep Scotland Beautiful (KSB) is holding a two day conference and indoor exhibition dedicated to the issues facing the waste and recycling industry in Scotland.

The 'Waste to Resource Management–Making the Transition' Conference and Exhibition follows the success of last year's event and will address the many and varied problems facing the waste industry's transition to a resource management industry.

Scotland has made significant advances in the recovery of municipal waste, but we have still a long way to go in regarding waste as a resource which can offer economic benefits by reducing our dependence on primary raw materials. This year the conference will focus on waste as a resource, looking for the synergies between commercial waste arisings and the economic drivers which bring the recovery of MSW and business waste together. Each conference session will have a designated theme, ensuring that the event offers something of interest to delegates from all industry sectors.

- SCOTTISH WASTE MANAGEMENT CONFERENCE
- EXHIBITION AND AWARDS DINNER
- 3RD – 4TH OCTOBER 2006
- HILTON HOTEL, GLASGOW

The themes will include; Strategy and Policy, Delivery and Implementation, Business and Producers and Technologies, with topics ranging from the role of waste producers, thematic strategies, treatment/recovery technologies, strategy review, and partnerships between community, public and private sectors.

Features at this year's event will include an enhanced and extended indoor exhibition with stands from major waste companies, recycling and reprocessing companies and suppliers.

Last year the Conference attracted over 200 delegates to the event. Both public and private sectors were well represented with an increase in the number of delegates from local authorities (including Liverpool Council and Isle of Man Government) attending.

The prestigious Industry Dinner and Awards Ceremony will take place on Wednesday, 4th October 2006 in the Grand Ballroom and will incorporate the Scottish Waste Industry Awards Ceremony which recognises outstanding achievements in the waste sector in Scotland.

The 2005 dinner was attended by almost 400 people and the guest list included leading figures from local authorities, regulators and private and public sector organisations. Presentations were made in recognition of outstanding contributions to the waste management industry in Scotland.

The Award Winners included Martin King, Award for Individual Achievement, Ogilvie Ross, Award for Environmental Innovation, Perth & Kinross Council, Award for Best Waste Minimisation Initiative and Westray Development Trust, Award for Best Community Waste Initiative. A new award for 2006 will be introduced this year to recognise partnerships that have evolved to meet the needs of an ever changing wastes sector.
